

So Let It Be

Intro:     A           D           A           D

Verse 1:     A                           D     A                           D
           Can't see You through the clouds.     Can't find You in the rain.
F#m           E                   D     A                           D
           I want to follow, don't know how.     It's just not clear enough today.

Verse 2:     A                           D     A                           D
           I want to walk, can't move my feet.     I want to speak, no words to say.
F#m           E                   D                   A     Esus
           And I can't admit to my defeat,     but I'm to blame.

Chorus:     D           A           E
           So come and have Your way.
F#m                   D           A     E
           Expose what's underneath, and let it fade.
F#m                   D     A                   E
           So You would shine, I'll glorify the One who saves,
A           D           A           D
           So let it be.

Verse 3:     A                           D     A                           D
           You are the truth I'm looking for.     You are the song I long to hear.
F#m           E                   D                   A     Esus
           My heart, it beats for nothing more, so draw me near.

Chorus:     D           A           E
           So come and have Your way.
F#m                   D           A     E
           Expose what's underneath, and let it fade.
F#m                   D     A                   E
           So You would shine, I'll glorify the One who saves,
F#m
           So let it be.

So Let It Be - 2

Bridge:            E/G#      A      Dmaj7
 You can make this stain beautiful.
F#m            E/G#            A                    Dmaj7
 You can take what's broken and make it whole.
F#m                            E/G# A      B7
 So if it's not too late to start, do the same inside my heart,
D                            Esus      E
 And make it Yours, make it Yours.

Half Chorus:        D            A            E
 So come and have Your way.
F#m                            D            A            E
 Expose what's underneath, and let it fade.

Last Chorus:        D            A            E
 So come and have Your way.
F#m                            D            A            E
 Expose what's underneath, and let it fade.
F#m                            D A                            E
 So You would shine, I'll glorify the One who saves,
F#m                            D            A            E
 To set Your kingdom here inside of me,
A            D                            A            D
 So let it be.                            So let it be.

Ending:            F#m      E/G# A D                    F#m      E/G# A D

Chords Used in the Song

Words and Music by MICAH PEACOCK

© 2011 Broken Ground Music & Unlearning Music Pub (ASCAP). All rights reserved. CCLI: pending